World Wide Views on global Warming

As Minister for Development Cooperation I support and recommend the global project "World Wide Views on Global Warming".

The project "World Wide Views on Global Warming" will be a historic example of citizen consultation across the world. I hope that many institutions, organizations and individuals all over the world will participate in the project and by active participation be an important input to the global dialogue on climate and global warming before, during and after the UN Climate Conference (COP15) in December 2009 in Denmark.

Sincerely

Ulla Tørnæs
